Welcome

– AGES President
and Conference Chairmen

Dear Colleagues,

The 7th AGES Pelvic Floor meeting promises to be an exciting and challenging meeting. We are proud to welcome Professor John DeLancey from Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA on his first visit to Australia as our keynote speaker. Professor DeLancey is the foremost pelvic floor anatomist worldwide and a leading investigator of imaging of the female pelvic floor. Our second international speaker, Professor Michel Cosson from France, is a leading researcher of in vivo and clinical evaluation of prosthetic materials in pelvic floor surgery. The theme of the meeting “Anatomy and Function of the Female Pelvic Floor”, has been carefully selected to complement the strengths of our international visitors.

During the meeting, the female pelvic floor will be dissected compartment by compartment and an evidence based literature review of the efficacy of current surgical techniques will be presented. Delegates will leave the meeting with an improved appreciation of the pelvic anatomy and the appropriate treatments of female pelvic floor dysfunction.

Live surgery and edited videos will showcase new techniques and ample time will be available for delegates to grill the expert panels. Dr Gabrielle Morrissey will present a sexologist’s approach to female pelvic floor problems that will certainly broaden your horizons. The final session devoted to difficult cases and complications promises to challenge the panel of experts.

The conference dinner on Friday will be a highlight. Enjoy Brisbane’s summer evening cruising the river on the chartered CityCat to Newfarm for a night of fine wines, dining and good company by the Brisbane River.

We look forward to welcoming you to Brisbane for the 7th AGES Pelvic Floor meeting.
